THE PLAY.

'Double Yolk' consists of two short plays, peopled by different types of characters, and although they are set in different places, they are, to use the author's expression 'fortuitously related' and have to be contained in the same shell to achieve their ultimate effect.

Apart from the fact that we hope our audiences enjoy and are entertained by the rather unusual form of this play, we feel that it is also a good exercise for the 'Players' in that the cast have to create their characters in a much shorter time than is usual in the conventional full-length production. It is also a challenge to the backstage staff who have to provide two of everything and get it organised - no mean feat on our small stage.

We are very grateful for the hard work they have put into this production.

Our thanks also to Miss D.Thonger who, as always, has been responsible for booking arrangements.

THE PLAYERS.

Again we have a mixture of newcomers and stalwarts, and are happy to welcome Barbara Hill and Beverley James to their first stage parts. Now that the acting 'bug' has bitten them we hope to see more of them in the future.

Peter Sturgeon is having a busy year as Chairman, Actor and set builder. Derrick Daines is making his second appearance for B.J.P. and will also produce our next play.

Mary Edwards, Joan Lewindon, Jay Smart and John Pither are no strangers to local audiences and can always be relied upon to give of their best. 'Double Yolk' will be no exception.
